Bob: Hello.

Kei: Are you looking for something?

Bob: Yeah. Where's the cafeteria?

Kei: Cafeteria?

Bob: Yes. I'm on my lunch break and didn't bring a lunch.

Kei: We don't have a cafeteria.

Bob: What? No cafeteria?

Kei: No.

Bob: Where can I buy lunch then?

Kei: There are shops and a restaurant outside.

Bob: Thanks.

B. Today's point (今日のポイント)

Check those points with your tutor.

講師と一緒に、以下のポイントを確認しましょう。

When trying to delicately answer a question, instead of relying on Yes/No, use "I'm afraid not," or "I'm afraid so."

Instead of focusing on the negative, find something positive about the situation at hand. For example, if a colleague is disappointed because there is no cafeteria in the building, point out the shops and restaurants within walking distance of the office.

It's more natural to use "I don't think we should..." than "I think we shouldn't..."

Bob: I didn't realize that. Darn.

Kei: Sorry to disappoint you.

Bob: I'm wondering what to do about lunch.

Kei: There are lots of shops and restaurants nearby. See, I don't think we should have a cafeteria, because now we have the chance to go out and get some fresh air.
