Uluru

Uluru is very famous in Australia. It is so big that it looks like a mountain but it actually is a very big rock. 350,000 people visit the rock every year.

Uluru is an interesting place for most of the visitors. However, the rock is a sacred place for the Anangu, the native people living around the rock. They respect the rock and its surrounding environment very much.

The Anangu welcomes visitors to Uluru. They teach visitors their history and show people their art. However, some people don’t respect their lives. They climb the rock, and take pictures of their sacred places.

All visitors must respect the culture of the place they’re visiting while enjoying the travel experience.
